Walk through Beacon Hill. KYLE KLEIN

October usually ushers in pumpkin spice lattes, apple picking, Halloween and turning leaves. It’s also a great time to travel — the cooler weather makes it more comfortable to hit the road and start exploring.

Whether you want to go leaf peeping or golfing, we rounded up the best places for you to visit this month.

Boston

You can't beat Boston in the fall. Of course, its biggest autumnal draw is the foliage turning brilliant shades of amber, red and orange throughout the city. But this year brings another reason to visit: the Boston Marathon, which usually occurs in April, will take place October 11. It's the first time that the marathon will happen in the fall and the first time it's been held since 2019.

After leaf peeping or marathon viewing, rest up at The Langham, Boston. The newly renovated hotel boasts light and sophisticated interiors, an impressive mostly local art collection, British-inspired bar The Fed and Italian restaurant Grana.

Escape to Southern California's Terranea Resort during Breast Cancer Awareness Month. During October, a portion of proceeds from select spa treatments, activities and more will benefit breast cancer organizations Cancer Support Community Redondo Beach and Play for P.I.N.K. Nosh on blush-hued macarons, sugar cookies and cake and meringue pops and sip ONEHOPE Rosé and those organizations will benefit, too.

The oceanfront oasis also will celebrate Halloween throughout the month. Take aim at an archery session with zombie and pumpkin targets; embark on a haunted self-guided nature walk in search of the phantom Lady in the Light; or listen to family-friendly spooky stories.

Kohler, Wisconsin

Travel to this small town for some big flavors at the Kohler Food & Wine Experience. Running October 21 to 24, the epicurean event marks its 20th anniversary this year.

A lineup of celebrity chefs such as Fabio Viviani, Rick Bayless, Nyesha Arrington, Jamika Pessoa, Melissa King and Elena Besser will headline cooking demos, tastings, luncheons and more. New festival additions include the Kohler Food & Wine HUB, a gathering spot serving craft cocktails, and The Seeker: Your Passport to Wine, a vino-guided tour in Kohler.

After eating and drinking, retire to The American Club, a historic Five-Star hotel on the Kohler campus. Its elegant rooms have bathrooms outfitted with the indulgent Kohler shower experience.

Celebrate Mohegan Sun's 25th anniversary. MOHEGAN SUN

Uncasville, Connecticut

One of the U.S.'s largest entertainment and gaming destinations, Mohegan Sun will go big for its 25th anniversary.

Throughout October, Mohegan Sun will have special deals in the casino (like an anniversary slot sweepstakes to win $250,000 in cash) and shops (like 25 percent off select Le Creuset items). The celebration culminates October 22 ^{BETA} 24 with Harry Styles and Blake Shelton performing at the Mohegan Sun Arena and hip-hop legends Run DMC rapping in the Wolf Den. Expect more celebrities at a VIP party at Mohegan's newest hot spot, TAO Asian Bistro & Lounge.

smoothing exfoliation, a hydrating avocado butter mask, a honey-based fruit serum and some agave nectar oil.
